

The Western Wheat Harvest

Influence Of Wealth It Produces Is Felt Everywhere

So many hazards have now been overcome that it is almost taken for granted that the Western wheat harvest will this year constitute a record by far. Considering the increase of 5,000,000 acres sown, it would require a major setback to bring anything but a record; still, the colossal undertaking of the Western farmers must always face serious dangers and only when the farms are past is rejoicing in order.

There have been local hail storms and regional wave stretches, but, as a whole, the conditions have been excellent, and the talk is of a crop of 500,000,000 bushels. The cost of a bushel compared with 1930-300 last year, and with 473,000,000 in 1923, in the 22nd, the greatest previous production.

The harvest as it becomes a reality is like music for the ears of the golden streams that bring unending new wealth whose influence is felt everywhere. The farmer has the need for all his purchase, his interest in borrowed money, something for payment on past debts, and any services for his family because of Christian. Troublesomeness feel the current of new money in his piggy bank, difficulties clip a fraction here and there, and new expenditures. Manufacturers forced to compete in the difficult field will result in increased unemployment. It is a general vitalizing fluid running through the nation's veins, for the wheat crop will represent about one-fifth of the new wealth of the entire Dominion this year, and for the year, the new Canadian can be indifferent to the Toronto Globe.

Has Long Finger Nails

Chinese Gentleman Grows Them To Length Of 53 Inches

One of the famous firms of the rue de la Paix in Paris, which is known around the world for the antiquities and curiosities it sells, recently received an offer from a Chinese gentleman in history.

The Chinese correspondent wrote that the two nails of the last two fingers of his left hand had attained a length of 74 centimeters (2' 5 1/2 inches) and he wanted to sell them to those at a profit. He hopes to sell them for $300, and suggests that perhaps some American museums would be interested in them.

Young Immigrants Make Good

Seen To Be More Successful Than Older Ones

The notable successes that have been won in this country by immigrants have been won entirely, although the immigrants by themselves came here young. Now and then a case is reported in the press in which a boy from the old country appears to have been badly used by the farmer in whose charge he has been placed, and we believe they are well used and the steps taken to see that injustice is not done these immigrants are constantly being made more effective.

Strange Cause Of Fire

More than 2,000 acres of forest land in California were swept by fire recently, the blaze being started by sparks from a horse's hoods, according to a report in the Popular Mechanics Magazine.

This is believed to be the first verified instance of an occurrence of this kind, although other fires, starting in this manner, have been reported.

W. BEATTY, Chairman, Canadian Pacific Railway.

Edward Wentworth Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, was born at Thorold, Ontario, in 1865. He studied law there, and he was ten years of age he studied in Toronto at the Model School, Upper Canada College, Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute, Osgoode Hall and the University of Toronto. Graduating from the University he decided to study law with the firm of McCarthy, at Toronto, in 1889. In 1900 Mr. Beatty entered the service of the C.P.R. as a draughtsman and in 1903 he was appointed to the General Assistant Solicitor; in 1910 he became Chief Counsel and Vice-President. He succeeded Lord Shaughnessy as President of the C.P.R. in 1919. Mr. Beatty has a great interest in Canadian education and is Chancellor of McGill University. He takes a prominent part in many public movements.

Mr. Beatty is the first Canadian born president of the C.P.R. During his entire career he has been noted for his sound knowledge of human affairs. He is beloved by those who are associated with him, and by those who work under him. He is a man who is a worthy successor of the great men who preceded him, as president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Practice Is Unwholesome

Pampering Youth Will Never Build Up Useful Citizens

Lord Lovat touched upon a very interesting point when he explained the reason for the pampering of boys after they have reached the age of eighteen, when they seek their independence and want to cut free from control. The principle is sound, whether it is applied to youths or adults, that a man who is pampered, that is, who is weak, has no capacity to undertake responsibility on his own account.

Pampering youth will never build up useful citizens. The tendency was to pamper the young, especially because of youthfulness is not destined to assist in the development of a robust and responsible manhood. Women are largely to blame in this connection, as their chief responsibility is that of eighteen to twenty, whether the outcome of affection or tolerance lending itself to an arrestment of the development of a proper sense of responsibility. As Lord Lovat wisely observed, sometimes people ought to be looked after all their lives. But the country which has many such is not likely to be in the forefront of the race.

Conditions Are Different

Intending Settlers Cannot Rough It Like Early Pioneers

The day is past when settlers can be expected to be self-sufficient. If they are to live down on a sort of hand without any capital. The higher standard of living today as compared with a generation or two ago has made a difference in this field as in every other. Generally speaking, the conditions of life today is not prepared to face the grim conditions that were accepted as part of the game by the early pioneers.

Methods of life, too, have rapidly offered a revolution, and newcomers can hardly be expected to muddle along with the old "bow and arrow" method until they acquire the capital necessary to provide themselves with modern appliances.

The only man that doesn't make a foot of himself occasionally is the one whom nature saves the trouble.

The Newest Reason

Check Was Returned By Bank Marked "State Date"

I have heard of checks being returned by banks for various reasons, forgery, wrong signature, no account, insufficient funds, or a check being dated ahead, but here is a fresh one that surprised me and I took the matter up with my bank. The other day I called in a check for $100.00 for a friend of mine and the check was returned by the bank marked "state date." I looked at the check and saw that the man had made it out May twenty-eight, nineteen hundred and twenty-eight, and I asked, "Is it safe to use it?" And when you ask a bank depositary immediately, for if you had it too long it will lose its freshness and be returned stale.

American Woman Trying Experiment To Exterminate Mosquitoes

An American woman who lives on Long Island is going to try to rid her neighborhood of mosquitoes by a new method. She is getting from a French scientist a breed of cannibal mosquitoes which will eat other mosquitoes instead of going around biting human beings.

There's an idea that we really like! Observe mosquitoes are a plague, and the scientist is going to do it by turning more mosquitoes loose on them so that the little pests will have to endure the very thing which they have been inflicting on the rest of us well, it's just simple, handy, that all.

More power to the cannibal mosquitoes. May they eat you fill.

Bay Route Is Practicable

Outlet From Hudson Bay To Atlantic Ocean Is Open For Five Months

With the return of Ottawa of the Hudson Strait serial patrol, the period of investigation in these northern waters will be completed, and the results of the work done will have proved to those complete satisfaction that the outlet from Hudson Bay to the Atlantic ocean is navigable for at least five months in the year, and perhaps longer.

Patrols of the serial patrol, the limit of period investigated, was placed at about three months. While the airplanes are returning to civilization, the government will keep its patrols on the strait through the agency of the Mountaine, a government steamer, which will steam to and fro in the strait until freeze-up.

In the late autumn the Mountaine will return to the St. Lawrence, leaving the strait for the last time in permanent solitude.

Next year the government will commence building permanent improvements to navigation in order to have the strait ready for ships by the time the Hudson Bay railway and terminals are completed.

The ministry of communications is contemplating the purchase of three aeroplanes which would form the nucleus of an aerial merchant fleet.

Storing Canned Products

Heat, Light, and Dampness Must Be Excluded To Preserve Canned Fruits And Vegetables

A cold dark dry place is best for the storage of canned products. Heat favours the growth of moulds; light causes fading; while dampness furthers the growth of moulds and may even cause rust on the metal ends.

Do not allow canned goods to lie about under uncertain conditions, wash the jars and label neatly with name of product and date when canned. If due storage is not available, do not store in a warm place.

A container for canned goods should be of a size to suit the needs of the household; not so large that it will be a waste of space.

It is a wise precaution to hold packaged products for a few minutes after they are removed from the store, as the heat of the body must be given off.

When the vegetables are required for salads, etc., they may be set aside after heating and chilled before use. These are often packed of canned fruit and vegetables.

For further details consult Bulletin No. 77 "Preserving Fruits and Vegetables in the Home," obtainable from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Plants Sent From Canada

Prairie Flower Will Decapitate Spiders, Graves In France

Pilgrims from Canada to the graves of those who gave up their lives in the great struggle for freedom will find blossoms on the graves, mementoes of the dead a familiar little prairie flower as a result of the action taken by the Imperial War Graves Commission on the instigation of W. L. Rance, of Ottawa.

In July last, Mr. Rance, a large parcel of seeds of Anemone pulsatilla, which were divided up so that all parts of the field in which Canadian graves are situated could have a supply. When the seed was distributed from headquarters a letter was forwarded to all officers of sectors instructing them to raise the seed and the resulting plants among Canadian graves.

It is expected a result will be a feature of the quiet landscapes in which our heroes are buried.

Parker, chief horticultural officer of the Imperial War Graves Commission, says in reply to Mr. Rance's letter:

"Please accept my very warmest thanks for this most welcome gift. It is a great pleasure to you to know that if we succeed in raising the number of plants that I believe is possible from your seed, a very large number of Canadian graves will be decorated with this little prairie flower."

The Yak In Canada

Developing A Hardy Breed Of Cattle For Northern Sections

Interesting experiments have been conducted at Buffalo Park, Wainwright, with the yak (bos grunniens), the ox of the plateau of Tibet.

Under experimental farm direction excellent specimens of crosses between the yak and the buffalo have been obtained, especially between the yak and domestic cattle.

What may be the future development in this breeding work toward the retention or elimination of yak from the Canadian flocks is to be determined by progress in breeding work. However, the work to date has afforded a most interesting study of considerable value in animal breeding; and it is quite possible that in future years the yak may be developed here containing largely the domestic blood of the improved beef breeds, but with an infusion of bison and yak blood sufficient to give that hardness, ability to stand in the cold, and general thrift and vigour which may be of some commercial value to the colder and northern sections of Western Canada where the beef industry will for all time be one of the important phases of agriculture.

Encourage Winter Feeding Of Cattle

Cattle Expired An Interesting Study

H. P. Kennedy, Toronto, famous cattle exporter, has made a proposal to the Saskatoon Exhibition Board that 1,000 head of young cattle be distributed among farmers' sons in every district in the north of Saskatchewan.

The suggestion follows the success of the boys' and girls' cattle feeding competitions. The idea is also to encourage the winter feeding of cattle on the western farms and develop a livestock market here.

The Impatient West

Twenty-five years ago the population of the three prairie provinces was considerably less than one million people; today it is well over two million people. Nevertheless, Western people talk of the slow growth in population, and are severely critical of the Government at Ottawa, irrespective of its political complexion, for the policies which have prevailed.

Twenty-five years ago Manitoba was largely an undeveloped province, while the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta were yet to be born, this vast territory being known as the North-West Territories, lacking a fully autonomous form of government, and without many of the institutions, services and conveniences enjoyed by the people in the eastern provinces.

Today these provinces are well organized, as up-to-date, as well served in most respects and better in some, than the older provinces.

Twenty-five years ago, with the exception of the main line of the C.P.R. and a few north and south branch lines, this western country lacked railway facilities. Today the whole country is criss-crossed by numerous main lines east and west, and by branches radiating out in all directions, while hundreds of additional miles of branch lines are in the process of construction.

In this short space of time, Saskatchewan, the central of the three provinces, has out-distanced every province except Ontario in railway mileage.

During these twenty-five years the production of the West has doubled and trebled and re-trebled; hamlets have become villages, villages have grown into towns, and towns into cities. Numerous educational institutions have been created which compare favorably with those of older provinces. In the same period of time, the number of students has increased.

Countless schools have been erected; thousands of schools have been erected; high schools, collegiate institutes and universities established; great elevator systems have been created; the telephone has been carried into the most remote of the prairie regions.

The single line plough and yoke of oxen has been superseded to a large extent by the tractor and gang plough; the winding trails leading across the prairie, up hill, down hill, and through the valleys to the far distant little railway station, calling for days and nights on the road to market a load of grain, have been converted into well built earth roads, graded to a standard, even in the most rugged and remote sections of the West, and the thousands of miles of timber and steel roads have been built in the last ten or fifteen years, and millions of dollars market roads have been built in the last ten or fifteen years.

But are the people satisfied? Not a bit of it. When the well designed, properly graded and constructed road, with good drainage, bridges and culverts replaced the old rutted trail and corrugated road, the people were either satisfied or annoyed. When the new road was made, they began to criticise after days of "rain and mud" roads which were regarded as a sensible satisfaction even three short years ago, are now roundly criticized and condemned because they are not all-weather roads.

The West is impatient. In many respects it is an excellent quality. The West is not and never will be content with less than the best. And what it wants is the best. The West is impatient because it wants the best roads. If other provinces, states and countries have had gravelled roads and paved roads, why can't the West have them? Well, the West can have them if the people of the West are prepared to pay the price. But Ontario and Quebec, and the States to the south, and the countries of Europe did not enjoy hard-surfaced highways when they were only twenty-five years old, and when the West is impatient, we must say that the West's impatience is greater.

These things came to them gradually. But the West is impatient. We are living in an age of rapid improvement, and the West must have everything others have irrespective of its numbers or wealth.

It is not sufficient that in twenty-five years the West has created great powerhouses, great virgin territory, and superior soil, and great mineral wealth, and wealthier lands took hundreds of years to provide. Thus it is said in Alberta, the U.P.A. Government, under Premier Borden, the Liberal Government, under Premier Gardiner, in Saskatchewan, and the Bracken Farmers Government, in Manitoba, are all under fire because they have not gravelled or paved many miles of native roads, although in order to do so the cost of these roads would have been enormously increased and the taxes imposed made much heavier.

And no sooner are roads gravelled than a new demand is made. In Manitoba complaint is now made that these gravelled roads are too dusty and the Government of that Province is called upon to remedy this condition. In Saskatchewan, a protest is to be made that there should be paved roads, gravel roads, running from the United States border to the northern edge of settlement, and that at least two other paved roads should be constructed high across the province from east to west, a good thousand miles of paved highway at a cost of many millions of dollars.

And once more the demand is made that native roads, gravelled roads, oil-lined roads, paved roads, is demanded the demand, and the insistence for automobiles, and the remuneration to municipalities of a good portion of the money now collected; in a word, for reduction taxation on the people. It is a pecuniary situation. All Governments being urged to spend millions more and to serve very much less.

Yes, the West is impatient, and, at times, apt to be a bit inconsistent.

Would Eliminate Punctures

A new type of wheel having two tires, one within the other, and said to be adaptable either to motor or trolley cars was exhibited recently. The outer tire is of leather and the other, inside it, is of pneumatic and is encased in a steel frame next to the hub. This arrangement is said to take the strain from the outer tire while the inner one acts as a shock absorber. Punctures are also eliminated.

Decrease In Fish Catch

A decrease in the total catch of sea fish on both Canadian coasts was recorded during July last as compared with July, 1927. In July last the total catch amounted to 87,672,800 pounds, while the corresponding period in 1927 totalled 87,712,352, as shown by the latest figures released by the Canadian Fisheries Commission.

On the Pacific coast, the catch of halibut during the month under review was 3,608,200 pounds, while the catch of the preceding year was 3,712,400 pounds.

COMPLETELY RUN DOWN

Symptoms That the Blood Is Thin Should Not Be Neglected

Weak, sun-down, lacking strength, energy and ambition, nervous, sleepless, poor appetite, digestion disturbed, and the like, are symptoms suffered by a great majority of people who have been benefited by the use of pills to correct the condition described and if you have any of these symptoms you should consult a physician at once. Their great value in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Dr. J. D. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, Michigan, N.Y., who says:—"I was completely run down in health. My blood was thin and I was weak. I did not sleep and I did not sleep well at night. My appetite was poor and the least exertion fatigued me. I was weak and I was tired. When I went out I would have a severe headache, and would have to lie down. I was weak and I was tired. A friend advised me to try Dr. William's Pink Pills. I soon found they were good for me. I was weak and I was tired. I had taken the sixth box I felt like a new woman, and have enjoyed good health ever since. I am now strong and can highly recommend the pills to anyone run-down or troubled with a weak heart."

Not only do Dr. William's Pink Pills help the nerves, their main action is to help the circulation, and as the blood supplies the whole body, new life is given to the body, new life, new energy, new vigor, improved appetite, increased vigor, all these can be yours by taking Dr. William's Pink Pills. Wheat Pool Advance Is 85c.

Initial Payment To Be Fifteen Cents A Bushel Less Than Last Year

The Canadian Wheat Pool will this year advance to its farmer members an initial payment of 85 cents a bushel on wheat basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William. This advance is 10 cents less than the initial payment last year and reflects the caution of the Pool management arising out of the fact that Western Canada is now harvesting the greatest wheat crop in its history.

The Canadian Wheat Pool, which controls the world's largest supply of exportable wheat, make an initial payment to their members when the wheat is delivered. Three other payments are made during the year, and the final payment is the price realized in the foreign market. The initial payment is therefore no indication of the total amount the farmer will eventually receive.

It is anticipated by the Wheat Pool management that they are starting the new crop year with old stocks practically sold out.

Import Game Birds

Ring-necked Pheasants From Oregon Introduced in Medicine Hat District

Fourteen brace of ring-necked pheasants arrived the other day from Oregon for the Medicine Hat Pheasant and Game Association. They will be placed in pens, strictly quarantined for them on the Bray poultry farm on Ross Creek. The young pheasants are about three months old, apparently, and are destined for release into the Niagara Park, although, through considerable hunting in the leg, they are a lively lot and apparently have suffered no harm from the trip. The Association is now in position of 44 birds altogether.

When pheasant numbers from the north are released into the Niagara Park, it is hoped to keep all the birds in confinement for breeding purposes and thus be in a position to turn loose several hundred in the fall of 1929, along the creek beds and river flats.

CHAPTER I.

Jangling his keys on their big ring, the sheriff led John McLean down several steps, then through a long, narrow corridor to the rear of the jail. From a dimly colored lamp came the sound of a ravenous voice attempting to sing one of the popular ragtimes of the day.

"Some fellow's still got a 'gangster' in there," said the sheriff, as he paused before a cell, consulted a key, then searched for the key. As the door swung open a sleepy voice waked in mock solemnity.

"What you, varlet? Why dost thou open me up?" said the King. "Hast thou grandad a reprieve?"

The eyes of the King were glowing, the inmate stepped into the bright light of the hall. A dull red suffused his pale face as he saw the tall figure before the sheriff.

"How you doin', mister," he smiled in a weak attempt at joviality, but the smile faded as he sensed a change in his father.

"My son arrested in a low gambling den?" the father said bitterly. "Donald, you son of a gun! I'll teach you. Your drinking, carousing and gambling can have but one end. I have been too easy with you. For your own good I'm going to turn you out of your home, and you will have to find a home, and have to prove yourself a man, you are not a son of mine. I'm done with you."

Donald's father turned abruptly on his heel and strode away, leaving the passage. It had been a tremendous test of his will power to make this short speech, and to resist the almost overmastering desire to take his boy in his arms.

The young man stood with mouth agape, a stunned look in his eyes, and stared after the retreating form of his parent. The sheriff broke the silence.

"We'll go upstairs, Donald," he said.

"Sorry, boy, but I had to do it," the sheriff said in kindly voice.

"What are you going to do?"

"I don't know," Donald admitted dully.

"How much money have you got?"

Donald stood up and drew from his pocket a few crumpled bills and some loose change. Then threw cut the "gracious" smile and set off the "gracious" air of a man in a eloquent gesture. As he stood with the starting rays of a late December sun on his face, he presented a wonderful specimen of man. Six feet in height, of a deceptive slimness, his rather tight-fitting grey suit set off the "gracious" lines of his face. His hair was a wide, wide, with the gentle slope that denotes equality as well as strength. His fine white skin and long black lashes would have given his features an effeminate touch but for the manly mound of his face, with its square jaw, broad forehead, and deep, wide, set eyes.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes the acid. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is the best corrective. It has remained standard with physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full strength acid. Each bottle contains full strength acid.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many

The sheriff's appraising eyes glowed with admiration as they rested on the young man. To the casual eye Donald appeared a slight build, but his old friend knew of the steel-like muscles of those arms and the strength of the long, straight legs.

The mind of the older man flashed back to a football game in Donald's High School days, with the State championship in view. Donald had been sent into the stadium at the eleventh hour, and with defeat staring the home team in the face he had torn through the opposing lines like a madman for agonizing gains until his head crashed across the line to victory.

Donald came embarrassedly to his feet.

"Well, I guess I'll be moving."

"Here, boy, take this," the sheriff said awkwardly, thrusting a roll of bills into Donald's hand.

The young man's face flushed. It's awfully good of you, Jim, but I—

"It's all right, son," interrupted the older man, summoning a smile. "I'm just giving you a loan."

Donald looked at him soberly. "I'll pay you back when I—earn it."

His face very serious, the sheriff placed a hand on Donald's shoulder.

Donald left the office, went to the door to avoid meeting several friends who had gathered in the lobby. He had an hour to wait for the sailing of the boat for Bangor. Inconsciously he had taken a seat in the rear, where he could sit in peace. An overwhelming sense of homesickness swept over him as he stood before his home, looking huge and white in the bright starlight of the winter night.

At the first sound of his master's step on the floor above, he bolted forth and flung himself bodily on the young man, whimpering in sheer joy. Standing on blind legs with his heart on his lips, he tried to kick Donald's head. Then he was apalled as a sharp pain in the head told him that Donald crouched low behind the hedge until the blind was lowered.

friends seem to think it is my funeral."

"Say, Donnie," Spike said earnestly. "I bin watchin' ya pretty close for de past year, an' ya sure bin hittin' 'em. You'd have to be the count of ten to be as tall as I am. From now on de fightin' is on de square, an' ya bin in ya big fightin' wid hard wood an' punnin' y'r punches. But Donnie, ya got de goods in ya. You're a good fighter, an' in course in de college gives ya a better start than most of us guys. I'm backin' ya to win."

Spike grimed as though pleased at the remark, and his head nodded. He was looking up at the sheriff, who had his eyes closed.

"For some time after Spike's departure, Donald had no money.

DENIAL MADE OF BAD TREATMENT OF HARVESTERS

Winnipeg, Aug. 26.—A protest at a colonial conference charging improper treatment of British harvesters at an immigration hall in Winnipeg, were denied false by Thomas Gely, local immigration commissioner.

Mr. Gely denied the charge made by Thomas Johnston, Labor M.P., for Dundee, Scotland, that British harvesters were kept in an underground cage, guarded by police.

"The British government have not detained any British harvesters in any way, shape or form, since their coming to this country," the commissioner said.

At a Canadian National Railways Immigration Hall, in the Union station, there is a gridded cage and policemen, two members of the Royal Mounted Police and one Winnipeg police officer, were stationed at the gate to further protect from outside persons who would make to ticket the 300 British harvesters back to the old country.

"These police officers," said Mr. Gely, "were stationed at the gridded gate to prevent any British harvester from the British harvester in the hall, but for the purpose of keeping unauthorized persons out."

Mr. Gely pointed out that Mr. Johnston had referred to admission to the hall because he had the necessary authority which could have been obtained from immigration or railway officials.

The charge was made to Mr. Johnston at a conference on colonial legislation arranged by the Empire Parliamentary Association. The labor member declared the men were being led together like sheep and forced to go out.

"British harvesters," Mr. Johnston declared, "are not in the habit of being treated that way."

It. Hon. Thomas Shaw, Minister of Labor in Mr. Ramsay MacDonald government, denied he had accompanied Mr. Johnston and had seen the conditions with his own eyes.

Viscount Peel said he had no personal knowledge of the situation described by Mr. Johnston, but said he thought that the proper time an investigation would be held and the matter fully looked into.

The many friends of Mrs Margaret Morrison gathered at the depot on Monday last to bid her farewell on leaving for her old home at Kingston, Ont., where she intends to reside in the future. Mrs Morrison has resided in Mirror for the past eleven years and was an active and earnest worker in the church and Sunday School. For a number of years she was leader of the girls' club also secretary to the Ladies' Aid. She will be greatly missed as she has always been a willing helper at all times for the good and high ideals of the community. Before leaving she was guest of honor on many occasions. On August 31st about 45 ladies of the community met at the home of Mrs J. W. Trotter and spent a very enjoyable and social afternoon. After a very elaborate luncheon had been served, Mrs. H. C. Brewster, in a few well chosen words, presented Mrs. Morrison with a beautiful leather hat box, who in her usual gentle manner thanked her many friends for the gift and said she would try to keep in touch with all. Mrs. Morrison has the best wishes of everyone for a bright future, who hope that she may at some future time spend another pleasant hour with us again.

Couple Wed

A quiet wedding took place at Vancouver, when Miss Gertrude Pannicker, daughter of Mr and Mrs W. F. Pannicker of Camrose, and Mr James G. Russell were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. During the time spent in Vancouver the young couple stayed at the home of the bride's sister, after which they spent their honeymoon in Victoria and Seattle.

Mr and Mrs Russell will reside in Mirror and their many friends wish them a long and happy married life.

The splendid address given by the Worthy Grand Matron was a feature of the evening. Mrs Oldring presented Mrs Savage with a small gift on behalf of the Harmony Chapter. The evening was brought to a close by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.
